

“The targets of UD” Work Sheet ③-1

① Let's put words to apply to an underline.

- The handedness of UD

It is said that 10% of Japanese are left handed and feel is feeling difficulty in many situations.

UD's purpose is to create a design that all people can use Judging from it, we have to design a product for both right-handed people and left-handed people.

UD in consideration for left handed people may help right handed people. Items that are not designed for only one side handed people, could be a big merit for a lot of people.

- The age of UD

Danger hidden in the place imminent until just before that of the elementary school entrance to school from infants. For example, little bumps in buses or on escalators. For a solution for this, “Non-Step Buses” had taken away most steps in the bus. These Non-Step Buses are now in service in places. As well as infants, it is UD which can remove a step which is a barrier for various people. Someone puts a photograph on the toy box, and the device to make it easy to understand it visually is taken. The schools where the stationery which any person such as the scissors which do not depend on a handedness could use easily was put increased. In addition, there are many schools where a slope, an elevator is installed in.

Being an adult means that you will experience and see lots of new things in the outer world. An example of UD corresponding to many people includes priority seats of the train. Seats that were used to be called “Silver Seats” in trains had changed their name to “Priority Seats” it is now for all people that have difficulty to stand up in moving trains. There are many UD which pursue the usability from many aspects.

Being an adult means that you will experience and see lots of new things in the outer world. Which means we will have more chances to use items that are designed universally with UD. The signal transmits information by the signature by LED and the sound.

Various devices are done by UD corresponding to the generation. Many people were able to easily treat them not a thing specialized in only an authorized person while being the design that it was thought led by authorized people.
