

Allergy test

Name _____

1. Put words that fit the following blanks.

1 blood test

(A) Specific IgE antibody test : Measure the amount of IgE antibody against a specific allergen.

(B) antibody test : Measure the amount of all IgE antibodies.

2 Food oral load test and Oral examinations

Under the supervision of experts at specialized facilities, observe the reaction by orally ingesting substances that are considered to be allergens

3 Patch test

Apply allergens suspected of patch test unit etc to the skin Attach, observe 72 hours after 48 hours.

2. What kind of examination should be taken when you know the following information for allergy?

Select appropriate tests one by one from the symbols.

① I do not know anything. I do not know whether I have any allergies. (C)

② Because some candidates for allergens have been raised, I would like to narrow down by inspection. (A)

③ I know what allergy is and I want to know the degree of allergy by the numerical value. (B)

④ I have food allergies and want to know the amount that I can eat. (D)

(A) Patch test

(B) Specific IgE antibody test

(C) Nonspecific IgE antibody test

(D) Food oral load test · Oral administration test

3. Do you have any allergies? And, which test do you consider as optimal from information about your allergies? Write the name of the test and the reason why you thought so.

Grading criteria

1. Is the name of the exam correctly written?

2. Is it possible to select the inspection correctly against question 2?